THE DEMOCRATS AND ELECTION REFORM.

The most important piece of legislation now in Wisconsin for many years is the Cooper election law, enacted by the late session of the legislature. It inaugurates a radical reform in the manner of conducting elections, and goes as far as is possible in making the ballot secret and independent.

Following the good example of Wisconsin, New York is trying to secure the same reform. The assembly has passed a bill similar to the Cooper law, by a large majority, and there is no doubt it will be concurred in by the senate. Two years ago the New York legislature passed the same bill but it was prevented from becoming a law by the veto of Governor Hill. The governor knew on which side his bread was buttered when he put the seal of his condemnation on that bill. Any law which has for its object the purification of the ballot, is against the political interests of Governor Hill. The Australian system of holding elections, now adopted in Wisconsin and Massachusetts, is death to vote buying, and consequently means the end of democratic supremacy in New York. It secures an honest vote. It ensures a secret ballot. It gives any man a golden opportunity to vote as he pleases. But Governor Hill does not want that kind of a ballot. The Australian system, if adopted, will be the end of Tammany and the downfall of David B. Hill. The governor knows this, and to further his political ambition he vetoed the bill two years ago, and there is no doubt he will veto it again if passed by the present legislature.

The better class of democratic papers of New York city are in favor of the Australian ballot. They are warning Governor Hill not to veto the bill should it pass. The World is using its powerful influence in the support of the reform ballot system. It is giving Governor Hill some good advice. It is speaking to him in plain English, and in the voice of warning. It wants the present infamous democratic methods of conducting elections broken up in New York city, and an honest system adopted in its place. The Herald expresses the same sentiment, and of course all the republican papers in the state are for the new law.

The fact is quite significant that all the republicans in the New York assembly voted for the reform ballot, while every democrat but one, voted against it. The Wisconsin democrats made a better record for themselves. They supported the Cooper bill.

The following explanation concerning the close vote in the senate on the Keogh bill, from the State Journal, should be read:—The bill establishing contract convict labor, after passing the Wisconsin assembly, was killed in the senate by a vote of sixteen to fourteen. Many people and some newspapers have been led to believe, by the closeness of this vote, that the bill nearly succeeded in sliding through the senate. This is a mistake. The measure did not stand a ghost of a show in the upper house, senatorial courtesy alone being responsible for the large vote of fourteen against the proposition to table. The vote was not in any sense on the merits of the measure. Senator H. A. Taylor, in order to expedite business by shutting off debate, made a motion that the bill be laid on the table, thus killing it. It was generally understood that some speeches were to be made in behalf of the bill, therefore in order to permit these to be made, several senators, who would have voted against the bill in the end, politely opposed the motion to table.

Finagans would have no need to repeat his famous question, "What are we here for?" if he should visit Washington now. From the president down, every republican concedes that the government is now conducted for the purpose of turning democrats out of office and putting republicans in.—N. Y. Post, (Mug.)

This does not read very well in the face of the recent reports from Washington that there is to be a radical change in the method of appointing consuls. The consular service will be reorganized, and no haste will be made in making changes. The report says that the incompetents, both republicans and democrats, will be removed, and that the democrats who have made good records will be allowed to remain. But this is not all. If the Post wants to be honest in its criticisms it would give President Harrison credit for moving slowly in the matter of changes. But the Post does not desire to be honest. It does not want to do President Harrison justice. It would rather make a misrepresentation than tell the truth. This is misgovernment.

There was something pathetic as it was merely in the recent incident of the aged and grief-stricken General Franz Siegel standing by while special examiners investigated the affairs of his office in New York (wherein the disreputable young Siegel had been systematically stealing) then asking when the examination was finished, whether anything had been discovered reflecting upon his (the elder Siegel's) integrity. "Nothing whatever, general," was the cordial answer; whereupon the old man said at once: "Then I want to resign now (as pension commissioner of New York and retire from official life)."—Evening Wisconsin.

It would be doing General Siegel an honor which he fully merits, to refuse his resignation. The old man is as honest as the day is long, and he has done enough for his adopted country to entitle him to the gratitude of the people. A man like Franz Siegel, no matter what his politics, should always find favor with his government.

This statement is going the rounds of the press, and started by the Philadelphia Record, that "in the case of the United States senate the election should be taken from the legislature and exercised directly by the people. So long as the legislatures shall continue to make the United States senate it will be filled by the attorneys and beneficiaries of monopoly and privilege whose interests are hostile to those of the public at large." It is very easy for a democrat to say to any down the United States senate, but quite a different thing to show by the records of the senate that that body is hostile to the interests of the people.

Some three years ago the Gazette printed an editorial on the extermination of the Buffalo in this country. It was stated at the time that in 1880 there were about three million head in the new states and territories, and three years ago the estimated population was some 300,000. It is a surprising and a regretful fact, that according to the report of Prof. W. T. Hornaday, of the Smithsonian institution, the total number remaining alive is less than a thousand head.

Mr. Blaine says that there are 3,100 applications on file in his department for 210 places. He hasn't places for not more than one fifth of the applicants who are strongly recommended. Blaine is not as fortunate as Lincoln was at one time. He was taken ill, and the doctor told him he had yarioid. "What is it?" he asked. "Varioid," said the doctor. "Good enough," said Lincoln, "I've got something now I can give everybody."

Ballot reform is on hand. The Minnesota assembly has passed a bill similar to the Cooper bill, by a overwhelming majority. Other states should wheel into line, especially New York. There more than any other state in the Union, is ballot reform needed.

Our democratic friends are galled at the way Clarkson is reforming the civil service. But they forget so soon how Stevenson made republican postmasters sweat when he became first assistant postmaster general.

SOME NEW LAWS.
The following are among the more important laws enacted by the legislature which has just closed its 39th session:

Prescribing uniform city charters of three grades.

Applying the Australian election system to Wisconsin.

Relieving an insane person's estate from liability for his support in a state hospital.

Permitting counties to levy an annual tax of 2-5 of a mill for the relief of ex-union veterans.

Requiring that milk cows be milked twice a day if their calves do not have free access to them.

Making thirty-five years the maximum imprisonment for knowingly knowing a female under 14 years of age.

Empowering the Methodist church of the state to organize a mutual fire insurance corporation.

Placing fraternal and assessment insurance corporations under the jurisdiction of the insurance commissioner.

Appropriating to each agricultural and industrial society of the state annually 40 percent of the premiums paid by it.

Requiring at least bi-weekly payment of wages in cash, except in the case of workmen inaccessible on the regular pay day.

Exempting from taxation only $20 worth of wearing apparel, books, portraits and household furniture, as well as all growing crops.

Providing for a constitutional amendment making the oldest member of the supreme court in point of service ex-officio the chief justice.

Requiring an election to be held in any town, city or village to determine the question of liquor license or no liquor license therein petition for it.

Requiring all loan and building associations located in other states to place $100,000 security in the state treasury before being permitted to transact business in Wisconsin.

In Love's Labyrinth.
Most women naturally look forward to matrimony as their popular sphere in life, but they should constantly bear in mind that a fair, rosy face, bright eyes, and a healthy, well-developed form, are the best passports to a healthy marriage.

All these wasting disorders, weaknesses, "dragging down" sensations, and functional irregularities peculiar to their sex, have an unfailing specific in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

Novel Application of Pulp.
A novel application of paper pulp has recently been discovered and consists in the production of organ pipes from that material. The origin of the industry is somewhat curious. Crespi Riguzzo, the curate of a little Italian village, was desirous of supplying his chapel with an organ, but as the commune was too poor to find the necessary funds, he and an engineer of the name of Colombini hit upon the idea of making the pipes of paper pulp, which gave such satisfactory results that the patent has been sold in Germany for £2,500.

A Mecca for Suicides.
Druid Hill Park, in Baltimore, seems to be the mecca for suicides. Prof. Devos, who killed himself there recently, is the twenty-second person who has killed himself in the park since it was opened to the public.

FIVE PERSONS DROWNED.

A RAFT BOAT SUNK NEAR BURLINGTON, IOWA.

A Farmer and His Wife Drowned to Death on the Rapids—The Casualty Record.

BURLINGTON, Iowa, April 19.—The steamer Everett, a raft-boat belonging to the Burlington Lumber company, was sunk at the head of Otter island Thursday night and five of the sixteen persons on board were drowned. The names of the dead are: Capt. VINCENT PEEL, woodsman, 36 years old, and her 3-year-old daughter. GEORGE HOWARD, first cook. Nurse girl, name unknown. The Everett was on her way from this city to New Boston bay when about 7 o'clock in the evening she was struck by a terrific gale of wind and sunk in twenty feet of water. Ten of the persons on board were on the lower deck or in other open parts of the boat and were flung into the water as the craft sunk. They all managed to escape by swimming to the overturned craft and clinging to the small portion of it which remained above the water. Capt. Vincent Peel, Mrs. Harry Bell and her 3-year-old daughter, first and second cook, and a nurse girl, name unknown, were in the cabin. This was submerged and filled with water all but one small corner. Mrs. Howard found this and remained in it, calling for help until the roof was broken in and she was rescued almost dead. All the others were drowned.

Capt. Peel leaves a wife and seven children, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard a 10-year-old child. The body of Mrs. Bell has been rescued, but the others are supposed to be still in the cabin.

The survivors called for help until their cries were heard and they were rescued from the wreck in a skiff. They were taken to the Illinois shore, where they were placed in the only man in the company who could swim escaped without wetting by climbing up the stanchions, and he fortunately had matches in his pocket. The people are still out in the woods unsheltered and a hard rain is falling.

The boat is valued at $6,000, but will be raised with small loss.

DEATH ON A COUNTRY ROAD.

A Farmer and His Wife Fatally Burned While Riding in a Wagon.

WATERLOO, Iowa, April 19.—Robert Shidler of Manson was buried to-day. His death was caused by burns which he received while trying to save his wife from being burned to death April 5. They were riding to town in a lumber wagon during a high wind, and the hay in the wagon was set on fire by a spark from his pipe. Before they noticed it the Shidlers' clothing was on fire, and Shidler got out of the wagon and tried to smother the flames. In doing so the dry grass beside the road caught fire from her clothes, the heat was so intense that she suffocated, dying in her husband's arms. His hands and arms were fearfully burned, the flesh coming from them in shreds. He suffered intense pain, but lived until Tuesday, when he too died. Mr. Shidler was 63 years old and his wife 64.

Jumped the Track.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 19.—A wreck occurred at Caronsville, Pa., on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railway about 9 o'clock last evening. As the express was speeding along at the rate of thirty-five miles an hour, the locomotive jumped the track while passing a switch, dragging the baggage, mail, smokers and three coaches after it, the whole train except the sleeper being thrown over the bank, arriving twice in the descent. Mail Agent Blackmore and a number of passengers sustained slight injuries, but no one was seriously hurt. The baggage-car caught fire almost as soon as the train left the rails, but the flames were quickly extinguished by water from the ditch. A special train was sent to the scene of the accident at once and the passengers brought to this city at an early hour this morning.

Derailed at an Open Switch.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., April 19.—The express train on the Chicago & West Michigan road leaving here for Chicago at 8:40 Wednesday night was wrecked by an open switch at Grandville while running thirty miles an hour. Before Engineer Garney could check its speed, the train was derailed, jumping over the ties. The locomotive and baggage and smoking cars were smashed. A large number of passengers were aboard, but none were injured. The train was derailed by the ties. The locomotive and baggage and smoking cars were smashed. A large number of passengers were aboard, but none were injured. The train was derailed by the ties. The locomotive and baggage and smoking cars were smashed. A large number of passengers were aboard, but none were injured.

The Old Carroll Homestead Burned.

FREDERICK, Md., April 19.—The old Carroll homestead at Knoxville, Frederick county, was destroyed by fire Tuesday. It was tenanted by George Green, who lost all of his household goods. The property was insured for $1,500. The tract upon which the old mansion house stood was taken up in 1727 by the father of Charles Carroll of Carrollton, and embraced 15,000 acres.

No News of the Danmark.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Agents of the Thingvall line report again to-day that no news whatever has been received of the fate of the passengers and crew of the Danmark. The Albatross of the Anchor line arrived from Gibraltar to-day, but her officers had seen no trace of the lost vessel or her passengers.

BULLDOZED BY A TRUST.

A New York Firm Persecuted Because It Would Not Join a Combination.
BALTIMORE, Md., April 19.—Lewis Elmer & Sons entered suits for $100,000 damages in the Court of Common Pleas yesterday against Fleischmann & Co. and Alonzo B. Cochran. Lewis Elmer & Sons are manufacturers of vinegar and compressed yeast, the latter being also manufactured by Fleischmann & Co. The declaration alleges that Fleischmann & Co. endeavored to have Elmer & Sons raise the price of their yeast, which the latter declined to do. Fleischmann & Co. then bought a quantity of vinegar, which was placed in charges of Alonzo B. Cochran, with instructions to sell the same to the customers of Elmer & Sons at a price far below its value, and if necessary to give it away in order to effect the sale. Elmer & Sons. This was done, the declaration alleges, because Elmer & Sons refused to enter into an "unlawful combination to unlawfully raise and enhance the price of one of the common necessities of life." A large part of the business of Elmer & Sons has been destroyed, it is charged, and is threatened with total extinction, on which account damages are claimed. As Fleischmann & Co. persist in their action an injunction is also asked against them.

I have had nasal catarrh for ten years so bad that there were great sores in my nose, and one place was eaten through. I got Ely's Cream Balm. Two bottles did the work. My nose and head are well. I feel like another man.—O. B. Millen, Sibley, Jackson Co., Me.

For all forms of nasal catarrh where there is dryness of the air passage with what is commonly called "stiffening up," especially when going to bed, Ely's Cream Balm gives immediate relief. Its benefit to me has been priceless.—A. G. Case, M. D., Milwaukee, Kas.

IN THE LEGISLATURES.

The Illinois House Passes the Merritt Anti-Trust Bill.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 19.—The non-resident trustee bill was reported back from the Senate this morning with the amendments of that body. On a call of the roll the Senate amendments were concurred in. The Senate amendments consisted in the striking out of the emergency clause and the addition of a proviso prohibiting the removal of any institution of learning from the State without the unanimous vote of the board of trustees.

The Merritt anti-trust bill came up as a special order on third reading, and was passed by a vote of 123-29. Messrs. Merrill, Allen of Vermillion, Prince, Enlow, and Jones of Sangamon advocated the bill, and Messrs. Sparks, Miller, and Faddock opposed it. The previous question was finally ordered at 12:20 and the bill passed by a vote of 113 yeas to 19 nays. Mr. Brokaw gave notice that he would move to reconsider the vote by which the bill providing for the organization of workingmen's societies for mutual protection was placed in the order of unfinished business. McLaughlin's bill providing for the regular payment of wages in lawful money to employ at least once every two weeks, was read a third time and passed—yeas, 117; nays, 5.

The Senate then went into executive session for the purpose of considering the nomination for Chicago West Park Commissioners sent to the Senate Wednesday by the Governor.

The nomination of Harvey G. Thompson as his own successor was confirmed without opposition, but on the question of confirming the appointment of C. K. Billings to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of P. McVicar, Senator Humphrey expressed decided opposition. The nomination was confirmed without opposition, but Senator Humphrey gave notice that he would make a motion to reconsider.

When the Congress on county and township organization reported favorably upon the Bogardus county, township, city, ward, and precinct option bill, Senator Shutt moved a non-concurrence in the committee report, saying that such a law was unnecessary and inexpedient, as it would upset the whole license system in the State.

Sensor Shutt's motion prevailed by a vote of 33 yeas to 21 nays, but Senator Bogardus gave notice that he would make a motion to reconsider.

Sensor McDonald moved to reconsider the vote by which the fish culture bill was passed. The motion prevailed, and the bill was placed on the calendar in the order of second reading, and was made a special order for next Wednesday.

Senator Crawford introduced the following concurrent resolution, which was adopted:

"Resolved, By the Senate of the State of Illinois, the House of Representatives concurring, that our Senators and Representatives in Congress be and they are hereby requested to use their best endeavors to secure such legislation by Congress as will result in the making of a survey, under the direction of the Secretary of War, of the ship canal connecting Lakes Michigan and Superior, commencing at a point on the Little Bay de Noe, Lake Michigan, up the Whitefish river to the divide between said lakes, thence down the main river to or near Au Train bay on Lake Superior, thus saving to commerce over 500 miles in the round trip between Chicago and Duluth, and to the general government great expense in naval operations on the upper lakes in case of war.

Resolved, further, That the Governor be, and he hereby is, requested to forward copies of the foregoing resolution to our Senators and Representatives in Congress.

The bill awarding John B. Rice $1,170 for damages to his cattle by reason of a quarantine, and the Johns election bill were passed with little opposition.

A resolution offered by Senator Higbee expressing sympathy with the family of the late Senator William B. Archer, of Pittsfield, was adopted by a unanimous rising vote, and the Senate took a recess until afternoon when the memorial services in honor of ex-Senator Dearborn of Geneva were held.

MICHIGAN'S STATE FAIR.

A Bill Passed Authorizing the Selection of a Permanent Place for the Show.

LANSING, Mich., April 19.—A bill has passed both the House and the Senate enabling the State Agricultural society to select a permanent location for the State fair. The Senate passed bills appropriating $60,000 for the soldiers' home at Grand Rapids, and $50,000 for the school for the blind at Lansing.

The House passed a bill repealing the law which authorized Circuit judges to sentence first term convicts to the Detroit house of correction, an institution owned and controlled by that city and not under State jurisdiction. Another bill passed re-adding to the United States jurisdiction over all lands required in opening the Hay Lake canal between Lakes Superior and Michigan.

THE LONG LINE MOVING.

BOOMERS HAVE CROSSED THE CHEROKEE STRIP.

With the Cry, "On to Oklahoma," the Settlers Are Nearing the Desired Goal.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., April 18.—The descent on Oklahoma set in Thursday morning along the entire northern border, and the sun went down on a great column of white-topped wagons, stretching far away into the Indian Territory. Last night the rain again poured down and carried dismay to the thousands of home-suckers. But the boomers braved the storm and started their wagons down the dark night road that leads into the great Ponca trail, and crowded as far forward as the soldiers would permit. Then the halt was made, and the night passed sleepless.
With the break of day the rain ceased and a chill wind swept over the prairies. Cold to the very marrow-bones, the boomers were still patient and cheerful.

When daylight was fairly visible the wagons were up with the soldiers, ready to move. The great camps on the Arkansas and Walnut rivers were breaking up and thousands of men and teams were crowding the rear. As at 8 o'clock, the appointed hour of march approached, a great excitement prevailed among the people. Suddenly a troop of soldiers appeared on the prairie and they presently halted, holding within fifty miles of the Territory line. Cheers rang from the boomers as the soldiers came. Capt. Jack Hayes of the Fifth cavalry was in command, watch in hand. When 8 o'clock arrived he gave a signal, a leader-halt followed, the soldiers wheeled about, yelling, "come on, boys!" and away they went across the strip.

The scene immediately following was thrilling. The boomers' cheers urged their teams forward, and in less time than it takes to tell the great march to the promised Oklahoma had begun. Within thirty minutes 700 wagons had crossed the line with thousands in the rear. If a wagon broke down, spilling children, chickens and furniture into the mud, it was fixed in a minute by half a hundred willing hands and the catastrophe smoothed with a cheering word. Within a mile of the border the crowd became so densely packed that it was with great difficulty a passage to the front was effected. A half-mile from the border a leader-halt was called, and the wagons were ordered to people were approaching in large numbers to take the Nez Percés trail that leads to Fort Reno.

The first one to cross was that of Rube Jackson, from Missouri, a lank, red-bearded pilgrim, who yelled like a Pute and whipped his horses into a dead run.
In succession came the wagons of a large American flag from his wagon and charged all not to crowd the banner. His instructions were respected, either from overcome of the flag or respect for the bad light that was in the mud. The first of the blue steel of the pistol belted across his stomach. Among the leading teams was a house on wheels drawn by four horses. In rule the comfortable structure was a Kansas farmstead. The family. Next came a heard of about twenty cattle, and the owner when asked why he was driving stock through a country where it was illegal to do so, remarked: "Well, I know; but when I have got them, I have not got to get them." After passing a number of wagons of various patterns came a man riding a horse and leading a team of oxen. These were used for packs, each one freighted to its utmost capacity with household goods. This settler being questioned as to why he was carrying so much in law independent manner answered: "Well, sir, I left the wagon and folks behind. It broke down.
The old woman and children are in good hands, and when I get there and get fixed I will send for them."

The young Indians from the training school, about a mile beyond the neutral strip line, came down to the trail to view the march. All day long the column from the groves of the Arkansas and Walnut rivers continued and reinforcements still poured in from the highways. Two thousand and wagons had crossed the border into the Cherokee strip by noon, and the camps in the neighborhood were still full.

A neatly-groomed horse with bright yellow saddle bags stood at daylight by a boomer wagon. The inquirer attracted by its presence learned that it was a doctor's horse from town. A baby had just been born under the canvas roof of the schooner. It was a girl, and the father agreed to let it go.

THE Start From Caldwell.
Caldwell, Kas., April 18.—At 10 o'clock Thursday morning the start across the Cherokee strip was made by the boomers en masse. The intention had been to start Friday morning, but owing to the condition of the trail because of the heavy rains of the last few days, Capt.
Woodson, commanding the company stationed there to repel the invaders, determined to give the colonists another day to cross the strip. At 8 o'clock a blue-coated bugler mounted at the camp of the soldiers and rode from camp to camp among the boomers with the blaring of his bugle. The troops broke camp at 9 o'clock and proceeded to the line. By 10 o'clock fifty wagons were drawn up on either side of the little bridge, where the old Reno trail crosses the line. At just 10 o'clock they were permitted to start.
Troops rode slowly in front, the wagons starting out in single file, making the start of a long procession that will continue to pour over the little bridge into the land of the Cherokees all day long.
About 700 wagons left Thursday. Capt.
Woodson returned on Friday morning, following the troops and Lieutenant Jenkins will take them through to Oklahoma.

OKLAHOMA NOT INDIAN COUNTRY.
Liquor May Be Sold There—Army Officers Apprehensive of Trouble.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Mr. Mason, commissioner of internal revenue, has decided that under the recent act of Congress and the proclamation of the President in relation to Oklahoma, it ceases to be "Indian country," and that special tax stamps may be sold to wholesale and retail liquor dealers to engage in business there, under the same terms and regulations as in other States and Territories of the United States.

Army officers are very apprehensive regarding the opening of Oklahoma. The subject has formed the main topic of discussion at recent cabinet meetings, and the Attorney-General has been called upon to decide the question as to the authority of the war department to act in case of violence in the newly opened country. The instructions sent to the commandant of the troops in Oklahoma, as a result of the opinion rendered by the Attorney-General, were extremely general.

They are understood to direct the army officers to assist in the maintenance of law, but to carefully observe the regulations defining their authority, and leave arrests for violations of law to the marshals. The President might, in case of serious disturbance, declare martial law over the Territory, but this could not be done in advance of a breach of the peace, and the machinery of the government would, it is feared, move too slow to meet the great emergency which may arise.
The only army regulations on the subject provide for interference by the troops in an emergency only in case of interruption to the carriage of mail or assault upon the States property, but under a somewhat strained construction it may form the reason assigned for the use of troops to prevent or restrain rioting or bloodshed in the Territory.

CONSUL KNAPPE RESPONSIBLE A New Samoan White Book Issued by the German Government.

BERLIN, April 18.—A Samoan "white book" has just been issued, obviously in view of the approach of the Samoan conference. In a dispatch to Herr Stuel, the newly called to Samoa, dated April 16, Prince Bismarck censures Consul Knappe and his conduct throughout the troubles in Samoa. He dwells upon the deplorable out authority, urgency, or a likelihood of success, Consul Knappe took measures on Dec. 17 which resulted in the death of a large number of persons and an undesirable change in the position of planters, besides jeopardizing peace with America, while violence would have preserved a tolerable state of affairs. The sanction of the other twenty powers being lacking, he says, Consul Knappe's demands for the control of the foreign affairs of Samoa, while of no force, and compelled him (Bismarck) to notify Great Britain and America of his withdrawal. The chancellor concludes by stating that Germany has nothing to do with the internal affairs of Samoa; that her mission is restricted to protecting Germans and enabling them to develop commercial interests.

Prince Bismarck has issued an order in which he defines the responsibilities of commanders of war-ships with respect to requests of consuls abroad. The Chancellor directs commanders to examine for themselves the legal and political grounds for such requests unless the consul produces special authority from the German foreign office. As the reason for his action Prince Bismarck refers to the recent events in Samoa, where, he says, an unauthorized request resulted in great loss of life and in injury to German interests, and danger was thereby resulting to the German Empire. He further declares that Gen. Sausser has presented to the Senate committee a list of officers willing to follow Boulanger, compiled by an officer who has since been punished.

Preparing the Case Against Boulanger.
PARIS, April 19.—The Senate commission appointed to conduct the Boulanger case, after examining the records of the of the République Française, and M. Fres-sance, a writer on the staff of the Temps, with reference to Boulanger's dealings
with the English capitalists.

The Boulanger case was referred to the
of the République Française, and M. Fres-
sance, a writer on the staff of the Temps,
with reference to Boulanger's dealings
with the English capitalists.

Father McFadden Admitted to Bail.

specter Martin at Gueford, has been admitted to bail, counsel for the crown consented.

THE GRAND TRUNK LIABLE.
A Decision That the Road is Amenable to the Inter-State Act.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The interstate commerce commission has rendered a decision in the case of the Grand Trunk railway. The decision says that the interstate commerce act applies to common carriers engaged in the transportation of passengers or property for a continuous carriage or shipment from a place in the United States to a place in an adjacent foreign country, and that the Grand Trunk railway is therefore amenable to all the provisions of the act.
The decision holds that the company has violated the provisions of the act in allowing rebates and according reduced charges for transportation from points in the United States to Canadian points. The commission also decides that it has authority to institute investigations and to deal with violations of law independently of a formal complaint or of direct damage to a complainant.

Col. Swords Provided For.
WASHINGTON, April 19.—Col. Henry L.
Swords of Iowa, who gained considerable publicity as secretary of the national republican committee during the last Presidential campaign, and later as corresponding secretary of the inaugural committee, has taken the oath of office and entered upon his duties as inspector of furniture in the treasury department. The position pays $3,000 a year.

Woodbury Says Armes Is All Right.
WASHINGTON, April 19.—The Armes court-martial was resumed to-day. Lieut-Gov. Woodbury of Vermont testified to Armes' general good character. He did not think he would do a dishonorable thing. Several witnesses testified to the arrest of Armes during the inaugural parade and his attack upon Gov. Cleveland at Riggs house, adding, however, no information to that already published.

They Want Hog Fat.
WASHINGTON, April 19.—The consul at Havana reports to the state department, under date of April 4, that on and after May 1 a duty of 60 cents per 100 pounds net will be levied on all importations into France of lard mixed with cotton-seed oil, irrespective of the percentage of each mixture, and that all lard imported from the United States will be subject to governmental inspection.

A Scrap of Paper Saves Her Life.
It was just an ordinary scrap of wrapping paper, but it saved her life. She was in the last stages of consumption, told by physicians that she was incurable and could live only a short time; she weighed less than seventy pounds. On a piece of wrapping paper she read of Dr. Acker's New Discovery, and got a sample bottle; it helped her; she bought a large bottle, it helped her more, bought another, and grew better fast, continued its use and is now strong, healthy, rosy, plump, weighing 140 pounds. For Cars Running in the Twin Cities.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 19.—Street cars were running on several lines, both in this city and St. Paul Thursday. There have been several disturbances in Minneapolis, but only one arrest. Rain commenced falling at 10:45 a. m., and scattered the crowd of far more effecting the police could. There is no real change in the situation.

Small Fox Epidemic in Pennsylvania.
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 19.—Reports from Nanticoke say that there are now twenty-five cases of small fox in the borough. At Grand Tunnel, three miles from Nanticoke, the disease has broken out in a boarding house. It appears to be spreading in all directions.

"After a varied experience with many so-called cathartic remedies, I am convinced that Acker's Pills are the most satisfactory results. I rely exclusively on these Pills for the cure of liver and stomach complaints."—John B. Bell, St. Abilene, Texas.

How Doctors Conquer Death.
Dr. Walter K. Hammond says: "After a long experience I have come to the conclusion that two-thirds of all deaths from dyspepsia, indigestion, and consumption, might be avoided if Dr. Acker's English Remedy for consumption were only used in time." This wonderful remedy is sold under a positive guarantee by Prentiss & Evenson, druggists.

HANGED FOR MURDER.

H. SWIFT EXECUTED IN CONNECTICUT.

Failure of One of the Most Noted Legal Fights on Record—Banker Waldron Returned—Crimes.

HARTFORD, Conn., April 19.—J. H.
Swift, the wife-murderer, was hanged, at 10:16 o'clock Thursday morning. Death was caused by strangulation, the noose having slipped around to the back of his neck. The body hung twenty-four minutes before the surgeons pronounced Swift dead.

The crime was committed July 7, 1887.
It was premeditated and without any provocation. Swift was a drinking man.
He married a girl who was soon forced to leave him and return to her father's house by his disreputable habits. Several times, by threat against her life, she was forced to take up with him, but he treated her so brutally that at last she positively refused to have any further relations with him. Wednesday, July 6, he procured a pistol, and against her life, she was forced to take up from the shop in which she was employed, he asked her to live with him, and on her refusal, fired, wounding her fatally. He was tried for murder, and on Dec. 19 the jury found him guilty. He was sentenced to hang April 5, 1889.

Then began the struggle for life that is one of the most extraordinary in legal records. The case was appealed to the Supreme court, and it, by a unanimous decision, confirmed the finding of the lower court.

Then the sister of the murderer, Mary A.
Swift, petitioned the Legislature for a commutation of the sentence, and during the whole of the present session of the Connecticut Legislature she labored to save her brother's life. March 25 she succeeded in having an act passed commuting the death sentence to imprisonment for life.
April 5, the day on which the execution of the original sentence should have occurred, Gov. Bulkeley sent back the bill disapproved and at the same time granted Swift a reprieve for two weeks. Miss Swift once more renewed her efforts to save him. She succeeded in having the bill passed by the Senate over the Governor's veto, but in the House failed to receive the requisite two-thirds majority, and Thursday John H.
Swift expiated his crime upon the scaffold.

CHARLES WALDRON RETURNED.
The Runaway Banker Brought Back Charged With Infidelity.

HILLSDALE, Mich., April 19.—Charles W. Waldron, the young runaway banker of this city, who left for Canada last August with about $300,000 of his partner's money, was brought in Thursday night from New York on a charge of breach of his marriage contract. He was sworn out by his wife, Alice M.
Waldron. Her attorney, James S. Galloway, of this city, and Morris Lamb, deputy sheriff of the county, captured him in New York Monday.

When Waldron skipped out last August he had a partner in his flight in the fair Mrs. Bidwell. She went to Europe with him, but he tired of her and sent her back to her husband, with whom she is now living at Quincy, this State, and Waldron then made a settlement with E. L. Koon of this city, his partner in the banking business, for about one-half what he took with him. He then came back to this country and opened negotiations with his wife, expecting that she would receive him with open arms, but she declared she would not live with him, and asked him to provide for her and his children. He objected to making suitable provision for them, so she swore out a warrant for him, charging him with desertion. Mrs. Bidwell had on the journeys lived together as man and wife.
Mr. J. S. Galloway left Sunday night for Albany, N. Y., with a requisition from the Governor of this State on the Governor of New York. He got the requisition papers on Monday and left the same day for New York city, where he had been informed Waldron was staying. The police had no trouble finding him immediately on his arrest, he went into court on a habeas corpus. Mr. Galloway ousted him on that point and brought him here in irons.

A Woman's Terrible Adventure.
LANSING, Mich., April 19.—Mrs. Amanda Walligan was found near the coal yard of E. B. Clapp & Co., in this city, at an early hour this morning, bound across a railroad track. She says that she was compelled at the point of a revolver to give up $50 which she had with her. She was then chloroformed, bound, and laid in the condition in which she was found.
There is no clue to the thieves and would-be murderers.

Ex-Congressman Ryan's Son in Trouble.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 19.—Fred Ryan, son of ex-congressman Thomas C.
Ryan of Kansas, newly appointed minister to Mexico, is under arrest here on a charge of defrauding two lady acquaintances out of $235. They induced a draft for him on the ground that his father would pay the amount, but the latter never saw the paper, saying he had ceased paying his son's debts.

For Alienating a Wife's Affections.
NEW YORK, April 19.—Inspector Byrnes has in custody at police headquarters a well-dressed middle-aged man named Wal-ron, who was arrested last night on a warrant from Michigan, where he is wanted on a charge of alienating the affections of a married lady. Waldron will be turned over to the proper officers.

Trial of the Alleged Murderers Begun.
LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 19.—The trial of Palmer, Hervey, and Hobbs, the Plum-merville election rioters, who were implicated in the troubles which followed the Congressional election at that place last November which terminated in the murder of John M. Clayton, was commenced in the United States court this morning.

IN THE MUNICIPAL COURT.

NASH AND O'BROURKE HELD FOR ROBBERY.

—WILLIAM SIBSON KEEPS OPEN TOO LATE.

Thomas Nash, and William O'Rourke were arraigned before Judge Patterson this morning charged with "holding up" a young fellow from Watertown, and robbing him of several dollars in money. The boys were given a hearing, and held for trial on the charge of robbery. The date of the trial was fixed for April 29th. At the time of the robbery there was said to have been another young fellow mixed up in the affair, but nothing has since been heard of him. He has probably "skipped by the light of the moon."

Dick Sibson appeared before Judge Patterson this afternoon, accused of keeping his saloon open after eleven o'clock Saturday night. Dick said that might have been the case, but he was only clearing out the saloon, and not selling wet goods; but the court could not see the distinction, and fined Mr. Sibson twenty-five dollars and costs, amounting in all, to twenty-seven dollars and seventy cents.

A NEW COLLEGE.

WILL SOON BE OPENED IN JANESVILLE.

Janesville is to have a first class commercial college, something which it has needed for several years. Professor Simmons, a graduate of Cobb's Actual Business College, of Plainville, Ohio, will take possession of the rooms formerly occupied by the Sibley Commercial College, May 1st, proximo, and as soon as they can be re-fitted and remodeled, will open a school which will be known as the Janesville Commercial College. He will have a corps of competent assistants, and nothing will be omitted from the course that may prove beneficial to the graduates of the college.

Professor Simmons graduated in 1882 with high honors, the degree of bachelor of commercial science having been conferred upon him. Since then, he has been connected with some of the leading commercial colleges in the country. For two or three years he has thought of Janesville as a good point for a first class school of this kind, but the fact that the Sibley Commercial college was located here, deterred him from coming to Janesville before.

The price of scholarships, and other details, will be announced in the newspapers later.

FATAL RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.

A VALUABLE HORSE KILLED IN BELLOIT.

A distressing runaway accident happened this morning near the gas works, resulting in the death of a good young horse. Mr. A. Snow, father-in-law of Mr. E. W. Holloway, the junk dealer, had the horse hitched to a wagon and drove through a gate, leaving the rig for a moment while he shut the gate. The moment proved too long, for a train passed the neighborhood at that time, frightening the horse, which ran desperately about the gas house and turned up a railroad track, where it fell down and broke one of its legs near the fetlock joint, and the animal was killed soon after, having been rendered worthless by the injury. The loss of the horse falls heavily on Mr. Snow, as it was his means of support, he being engaged in buying junk stock—Beloit Free Press.

Two-thirds of all deaths in New York City are from consumption or pneumonia. The same proportions hold for many other cities. Delays are dangerous. Dr. Acker's English Remedy for Consumption will always relieve, and may save your life. Prentice & Evenson, Drugists.

AN INSTRUCTIVE DISCUSSION.

FOLLOWED BY A SOCIAL TIME ENJOYED BY ALL.

The fortnightly Club met with Miss Floesie De Long on Park street last evening, and continued the discussion of the works of Tolstoi. The programme as published in Wednesday evening's Gazette was successfully carried out with one exception. The papers were of unusual merit, and showed a careful, thoughtful study of the subjects of the several essays. After the close of the literary discussion, the company enjoyed a game of six-handed progressive euchre, in which Miss Mand Crane and Mr. George Parker carried off the honors.

Two weeks from last evening the club will meet at the parlors of the church and discuss "Ben Hur." Mr. J. B. Day will be present and read the account of the chariot race, which will add much to the interest of the occasion.

HONESTY AND INTELLIGENCE.

It pays to be honest, you say.

Granted. But how many are dishonest through ignorance or intentionally. One can be dishonest and yet say nothing.

A clerk who lets a customer buy a damaged piece of goods, a witness who looks back at the jury, a doctor who takes a patient's money when he knows he is doing him no good—all are culpably dishonest.

Speaking of the dishonesty of medical men reminds us that only the past week there has come under our personal observation a form of dishonesty which is almost too mean for narration.

It is generally known that doctors bind themselves by codes, resolutions and oaths not to use any advertised medicines. Now, there is a medicine on the market which, for the past ten years has accomplished a marvelous amount of good in the cure of kidney and liver diseases, and diseases arising from the derangement of these great organs—we refer to Warner's Safe Cure. So widely spread are the merits of this medicine, that it is generally known in this country from actual evidence that it will cure Advanced Kidney Disease, which is but another name for Bright's Disease.

Medical profession have put themselves on record as admitting that there is no cure for this terrible malady, yet there are physicians base enough and dishonest enough to procure Warner's Safe Cure in surreptitious manner, put the same into plain, four-ounce vials, and charge their patients $2 per vial, when sixteen ounces bottle of the remedy, in its original package, can be bought at any drug store in the world for $1.25.

Perhaps the doctor argues that the cure of the patient justifies his dishonesty, yet he would boldly stand up at the next court of which he is a member, and pronounce Warner's Safe Cure as a patent medicine, and one which he cannot and will not use.

The fact that the people are waking up to the truth, and that the medical profession is far from honest, and that it does not possess a monopoly of wisdom in the curing of disease, dooming the many symptoms of kidney disease, instead of looking for the cause of the disease, they themselves following patients to die rather than use a remedy known to be a specific, simply because it has been advertised, and when patients are dead they can advance Kidney Disease, still practicing their dishonesty, and the price of death in their certificate as pneumonia, dropsy, heart disease, or some other accompanying effect of Bright's Disease.

All this is prima facie evidence of incomplete honesty, and dishonesty. We speak but the truth when we say that Messrs. H. H. Warner & Co. have done a most philanthropic work for the past ten years in educating the people up to the truth, and in doing so, they have been the cause of the cure of many of the diseases of the kidneys and liver, and are deserving of all praise for the honesty and straightforwardness in exposing shams and dishonesty of all kinds.

HOW PINKINS GOT THE VOTE.

A Reminiscence of Arkansas Politics in the Early Days.

In one of the back counties of Arkansas as a good many years ago there was a very warm contest for the office of constable of Snake township, being conducted between John Pinkins and Dennis Tompkins, says The Arkansas Gazette. The township was largely composed of a family named Treadler, there being about twenty-five votes of that name and connection out of the fifty votes polled; in the township. They held the balance of power, and they were to a man for Tompkins. John Pinkins studied the situation thoroughly many sleepless nights, but failed to solve in his mind the solution of the difficult problem of how to win the election against such large odds. He tried many plans, crystalized by lonely and studious thought, but none succeeded in turning the Treadler vote in his favor. He was finally in despair and had almost decided that withdrawal from the roll was his only hope of avoiding ignominious defeat.

In this frame of mind one morning about a week before the election, he mounted his sturdy mule and rode down to the cross-roads grocery store. In those days it was the custom for all country establishments of this character to keep "licker," and this particular grocery was not an exception. The first man that met the eye of Pinkins on his arrival was young Charley Treadler. Charley was the pet and the favorite of all the Treadlers, his prestige arising from the fact that he could play the "stiffest" game of poker and shoot the closest at a rifle target of any man in the township. He was "tanked up" that morning, and ready for any kind of a frolic. Pinkins dismounted, and started to go on, when he discovered seated on a log a little way from the building a brawny son of Erin, who to all appearances had been deeply imbibing the night before and was as dry as a chip for another drink. A fortunate moment as John Pinkins' head, and he had popped up Pinkins' head, and he said, apropos of the Treadler and said: "If you will go in there and pound the living lights out of that young whelp Treadler, I'll give you a quart of whisky." It didn't require more than a minute to complete the trade, and after Pat went into the saloon it required only half that length of time to bring on the desired conflict. When the blow of his massive fist the Irishman felled Charley to the floor. At this moment Pinkins rushed into the store and knocking the Irishman down, drew his pistol, and exclaimed, "When you touch a Treadler you touch me! Git from here you dirty Irish whelp, and if I ever see you in these woods again, I'll put your lights out!" The Irishman fled like a deer before him, and was over the line of that township Pinkins had the Treadler vote in his pocket. Tompkins in despair at the turn things had taken, withdrew from the race two days later. John Pinkins is now an old man, and distinction has been added to his gray hairs by the title of "one-liner," and his many political victories gained by him through all the years since that first campaign.

Relics and Mosques of Africa. Before the French occupation no Gaiour could enter the precincts of Kairwan, but the Holy City has become the most fanciful spot of all North Africa. In fact, this is the only place in which one can visit the mosques. The most noteworthy of the 175 sacred edifices is the Great Mosque, with its 665 columns of marble of every conceivable color and of every kind of architecture. Very beautiful, too, is a mosque called by the French the "Mosque of the Prophet." The error arose as follows: It was built in honor of Abou Selma El Balam, called Sidi Sabbi Arsul, meaning Lord Friend of the Prophet, a saint who possessed three hairs of the Prophet's beard. The smaller mosque of the saint Amur Abdeca, called Amur, is a large, reasonable house about 80 years ago, was a descendant of the ser of miracles, Ahmed Bey. He was a blacksmith and forged enormous swords which his daughter sold. In the mosque are preserved his furnaces. Another remarkable relic is a great font 900 years old and remarkably well preserved. The fountain is 130 meters, and from the middle rises a column, inside which is a small room. In this room the Sultan who built it was wont to spend the summer evenings.

Burning Water for Fuel. The burning of water is a curious thing. When I went to England many years ago, I writes a contributor to the Manufacturers' Gazette, a perfect novice in matters relating to combustion of fuel, and saw the firemen and engineers pouring bucketsful of water on the coal heaps just before shoveling the coal on to their fires, I at once told them that they were doing a very foolish thing, for it took a lot of heat to drive off the water before the coal would burn. But they told me that it was the custom, and that did not admit an argument, as they had proved that they had got much hotter fires when they wet their coal than when they put it on dry. I was completely nonplused, and when with my "stoker" I fed the furnaces with the water, I told me that the water ran out of the hoppers, I believed the firemen were right.

Paper From Wood. The discovery of the value of wood in paper making is credited to Dr. H. H. Hill, of Maine. About forty years ago the doctor visited the paper mill at Vassabro, and after looking over the machinery suggested the combustion of wood in the furnaces, and asked why the manufacturers did not get a few bales of excelsior from Augusta, where it was made, and try the experiment of making paper from wood. "It can't be done," said the manufacturers. "Have you not as much gumption as the horse, who, when he is made of wood, is called the doctor. The result of the conversation was a letter, some time later, from the firm's wholesale agents in Boston asking what they were putting in their paper to make it so much better than it had been. It was wood, then first used in this way.

A Great Surprise. Is in store for all who use Kemp's Balm for the throat and lungs, the great guaranteed remedy. Would you believe that it is sold on its merits alone, without a single word of praise from the proprietor of the medicine? It is therefore to give you a sample bottle free? It never fails to cure acute or chronic coughs. All druggists sell Kemp's Balm. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.
